I am always on the lookout for inspiring women. Here is one that blew me away so much that I had to share her story with you. You can't help but feel a certain inadequacy after reading about Ramona Pierson's life journey. But it is also motivating! She has overcome so very much and has made a name for herself, so much so that apparently they are making a movie of her life. That is one I would like to see.

I encourage you to read this article in BusinessWeek about her history, experiences and achievements. Truly amazing.
